August 24, 2011

For Immediate Release:

FOLDEX Corporation, a leader in innovative folder solutions, is pleased to announce its selection by Pressline Services and The Columbus Dispatch as the provider of the folders for the 3 around product conversions by Pressline. The inaugural project by Columbus will feature the FOLDEX NJ2C Folders, short cut off jaw folders tailored to Pressline's 3Volution newspaper press conversions.

FOLDEX experience in the 3 around conversions dates from the company's inception and the development of its innovative Viking Folder, the first successful machine capable of producing both two around and three around cut off products for commercial applications. FOLDEX has gone on to develop special applications of both pin type and pinless folders used in commercial and publication printing.

The NJ2C Folder is the third in a series of products dedicated to cold set printing applications, and the 2nd generation of short cut off machines with straight and double collect capability.
